ODAC Player of the Year
DIIIN 1st Team All-American
NABC All-American

Guilford College senior Tyler Sanborn has been named the 2010 DIII News Player of the Year, the publication announced.

Sanborn averaged 19.6 points and 14.1 rebounds this season for the Quakers while leading them to the Division III Final Four. He notched 22 double-doubles and was a first-team Old Dominion Athletic Conference selection, as well as the league's Most Valuable Player.

"Tyler had a breakout year on the national scene and proved he was the top post player in the country," said DIII News editor Gary Rubin, "There were many candidates for this award, but at the end of the day we felt Tyler was the most deserving."

Sanborn was joined on the DIIIN All-American first team by Washington University's Sean Wallis, Williams senior Blake Schultz, Ohio Northern senior Kyle Meyer and DeSales' Darnell Braswell.

DIIIN has selected a Player of the Year every season since 1993.
