Wheaton College senior Kent Raymond has been named the 2009 DIII News Player of the Year, the publication announced.

Raymond, the DIIIN Preseason Player of the Year, averaged 24 points and 3.3 assists a game this campaign for the Thunder, and led the school to the NCAA Division III basketball tournament. He was a first-team College Conference of Illinois & Wisconsin selection and the league's Most Valuable Player.

"Kent came back for another year of basketball and proved that he is a top player at this level," said DIII News Editor Gary Rubin, "There were many candidates for this award, but at the end of the day we felt Kent was the most deserving."

Raymond was joined on the DIIIN All-American first team by Capital senior Nate Stahl, Randolph-Macon senior Justin Short and a pair of juniors, Washington University's Aaron Thompson and Wisconsin Oshkosh's D.J. Marsh.

DIIIN has selected a Player of the Year every season since 1993.
