University of Southern Maine senior forward Ashley Marble has been named the 2007 Women's DIII News Player of the Year.

Marble led the Huskies to a 27-3 record while putting up 20 regular season double-doubles. She was fifth in the country in scoring and was the Little East Player of the Year after garnering nine weekly honors this season.

"Ashley had a great senior year and was a tremendous leader on the court for her team," said WDIIN Editor Gary Rubin. "There were many outstanding candidates for this award, but as our Preseason Player of the Year she really stood out. She is most deserving."

Marble leads the WDIIN All-American team, where she was joined on the first team by Bowdoin's Eileen Flaherty, Scranton's Taryn Mellody, Calvin's Lisa Winkle and Wisconsin Stout's Kelsey Duoss.
